Alcohol License Renewal Deadline Extended to January 23

ATLANTA—Georgia businesses that sell alcoholic beverage products have been given a 10-day extension by the Georgia Department of Revenue to renew their 2006 Georgia alcohol license. The new deadline is Monday, January 23.

All alcohol license holders must have their 2006 license conspicuously displayed at their business on January 23 in order to continue selling alcohol and receiving deliveries from their suppliers.

The Department has notified all state distributors of the extension.

Previously, the Department extended the January 3 deadline to January 13. Department officials stressed that this would be the last extension of the renewal deadline.

License holders, who did not file a renewal application prior to Dec. 31, 2005, are being assessed a 50 percent late fee.

Individuals can check the status of their renewal application online at <http://www.ganet.org/alcohol/> or by calling 404-417-4490.
